PREFATORY NOTE.

In issuing this third edition of the Legislative and State Manual, I am even more firm in my belief that the State should issue biennially a publication that shall contain a summary of its activities and a condensed official list. However, I would urge upon the next General Assembly that it make no provision whatever for an edition of this work unless it make more liberal provision, and fix by statute who shall determine what such a publication shall contain. The work can not be issued with any degree of consistency and uniformity if the appropriation is so small that much material which logically belongs to such a publication must be omitted merely for lack of funds.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

[August 3, 1904.]

The Democracy of Indiana, in convention assembled, heartily approve and indorse the wise and conservative declaration of principles by the Democratic National Convention at St. Louis, and the sturdy and able statesmen, Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis, selected as candidates for President and Vice-President. We commend both principles and men to the consideration and approval of the intelligent and patriotic voters of Indiana, and, as the chosen representatives of the Democrats of this State, give our pledge that the Democrats of no other State shall surpass us in their loyal, constant and hearty support in the present campaign.

We warn the people of Indiana that the perpetuity of their institutions depends on a pure, enlightened and honest suffrage, and we again call on them to rebuke the shameful Republican legislation by which the vote buyer is made exempt from punishment, and the purchase of votes is made a lawful occupation. We also ask rebuke for the equally infamous apportionment law of 1903, which was so grossly unfair and so manifestly in violation of the State Constitution that it met the condemnation of every Republican judge to whom it has been officially presented. We favor a just and fair apportionment law, based upon the Constitution, guaranteeing to every voter in the State the equal right with every other in the selection of those who make our laws.

The administration of Governor Winfield T. Durbin, so fulsomely lauded and indorsed by the recent Republican State Convention, is a mournful and humiliating illustration of the decadence of the Republican party in Indiana under its present leadership.

Through his persistent endeavors to build up a personal political machine, the efforts of his Republican and Democratic predecessors to put the State benevolent and penal institutions on a nonpartisan basis have been nullified, and a subservient Legislature has promoted his design by passing the iniquitous "ripper" bill in the face of a storm of public disapproval.

He has insisted on the control of subordinate appointments, even to the janitors of the State Capitol, and when resisted has not hesitated to obstruct the work of the rebellious department. For this reason the report of the State Geologist for 1902 was arbitrarily held back from the printers from January 28, 1902, until April 20, 1903, making its information to the people almost valueless. The report of the State Board of Health for 1901 was likewise held back for nearly a year. The Board of State Charities has been obstructed in its work because it opposed the "ripper" legislation; and Governor Durbin is now pressing his project to abolish the boards of control of the several benevolent and penal institutions and concentrate the power in a single appointive board; the preliminary steps having been taken by the Legislature of 1903, at his bidding in creating a Prison Reform Board to formulate plans for the change. We oppose any such radical change in a system that has proven satisfactory, without an opportunity for full consideration by the people. The Board of Charities, created by the Democratic Legislature of 1889, has demonstrated its value by making our penal and benevolent system a model that has attracted approval and imitation from other States, and we demand that no action for political ends shall be allowed to impair its efficiency.

We denounce as false in statement and implication the declaration of the State Republican platform that "During the last ten years of Republican control of State affairs the State debt has been reduced from \$7,520,615.12 to \$2,162,215.12, and the State tax levy has been reduced from 32 cents to 30 $\frac{1}{4}$ cents on each \$100 of taxable property." In reality, as shown by the published reports of the Auditor of State, the debt was reduced from \$7,520,615.12 on October 15, 1895, to \$2,437,615.12 on October 31, 1903, chiefly by payments from the sinking fund. The Democratic Legislature of 1893 made provision for an annual sinking fund tax of 3 cents, which has been levied ever since, and the funds raised by this tax in the eight years, 1895-1903, were \$3,157,080.66. This fund as provided by the law of 1893, can be used for no other purpose than the payment of the principal of the State debt. Under the same law there was applied to the payment of the debt in 1902 the sum of \$635,859.20, received from the National Government on the State's old war claim. The Republican party is entitled only to the credit of paying in these eight years the remaining \$1,290,060.14 that was paid out of the current revenues in that period, or an average of \$161,257.52 per year.

But in the three years preceding this period, under Governor Matthews, there was paid out of the current revenues $729,618.51 of the principal of the State debt, in addition to what was paid from the sinking fund, or an annual average of $243,206.17, and during these three years of Republican control, owing to the reduction of the debt under the Democratic tax law of 1891 and the sinking fund law of 1893, the average annual interest payment has been only $158,555. In other words the payment of debt and interest out of current revenues was $184,448.63 greater annually under Democratic control than under Republican control. In reality the Republican administration of State affairs has been extravagant and wasteful. Offices have been multiplied and salaries increased, the last Legislature alone having made many new offices and increased annual salaries of State House officials $40,000. Even the so-called economies of Governor Durbin have been costly. His refusal to allow the Health Board in 1901 to use the contagious disease fund of $50,000 provided by the Legislature for stamping out smallpox, resulted in widespread infection that has cost the people thousands of dollars as well as much loss of life. While the work of several departments has been obstructed by cheese-paring methods, Governor Durbin has been liberal with himself, as shown by his taking the Soldiers' Orphans' Home Band to Jeffersonville on one of his jaunts and trying to saddle the expense of entertaining it on the State Reformatory; or, as is even more clearly manifest in his recent issue, at an expense of $1,575 to the State, of a railroad map of Indiana, bound in full morocco, and inscribed in gilt letters "Compliments of Winfield T. Durbin, Governor."

We commend the Democratic members of the last Legislature for their courageous, open and manly stand for the rights of the people on all questions that came before them. The Legislature of 1903 has gone into history as a lobby-ridden assembly in which graft, spoils and petty politics were the predominant features, but the Democratic members thereof came forth with clean hands and untarnished reputations. We pledge the people that, in the future as in the past, the Democratic members will oppose all efforts to debauch the suffrage; all efforts to merge the ownership of the railroads of the State in foreign corporations; all efforts to make political spoils of the State benevolent and penal institutions; all efforts to needlessly multiply offices and increase the burden of the taxpayers. We pledge them to such legislation as will fully protect the shippers of the State from unjust discrimination on the part of the carriers in shipping and storage charges and facilities.

We pledge them in labor legislation to the same recognition of the just rights of both employer and employe, and the same spirit of equity that has marked the numerous and valuable labor laws now on the statute books, and we guarantee that when passed no labor law will be presented for approval to a Democratic Governor who has to apologize for his hostility to labor.

We pledge them to enact such legislation as will adequately protect the depositors in banking institutions, but without discrimination against any class of banks.

We pledge them to also enact such legislation as will prevent unnecessary and extravagant public expenditures and reduce the burdens of taxation now oppressing the people of Indiana.

We commend the Democratic members of Congress from Indiana for their able and faithful services to the people.

On behalf of the people of Indiana we express our hearty appreciation of the action of the National Democratic Committee in the selection of the Hon. Thomas Taggart to lead our party to victory in the coming campaign. We regard his selection as a credit to the National Committee, an honor to our State and party, as well as to our splendid citizen and gallant leader.

The Democrats of Indiana recommend the repeal of the metropolitan police law and favor the restoration to the cities of the State the right of local self-government.

(Signed) W. A. CULLOP, Chairman.

PROHIBITION PLATFORM.

[April 7, 1904.]

Holding that the legalized liquor traffic is the most fruitful source of waste, poverty, crime and misery, we, the Prohibitionists of the State of Indiana, in convention assembled in the city of Indianapolis, this 6th day of April, 1904, acknowledging Almighty God as the source of all power in government, moved by the spirit of patriotism and relying upon the honesty and integrity of the masses of the people, do hereby declare the following platform of principles:

Since the Supreme Court of the United States has decided so justly that "there is no inherent right in a citizen to sell intoxicating liquors" (Crowley vs. Christensen, 137 U. S., 86), we therefore, hold to the logical truth that this right can not be acquired except by legal enactment. All such laws when enacted are contrary to the voice of the Supreme Court of the United States, which further says: "No Legislature can bargain away the public health or the public morals" (101 U. S., 816); therefore, we ask as patriotic citizens, for the repeal of all such laws which now make the State a party to the crime of liquor selling.

For the honor of our State, the safety and protection of the people, the financial and moral benefit to all, for the health, comfort and happiness of homes, we declare for constitutional and legislative enactment forever prohibiting the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation and transportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes within the State, and within the Nation and our foreign possessions.

We call attention to the fact that the remonstrance feature of the Nicholson law is against the individual applicant for license, and not against the existence of the saloon, in any ward or township; notwithstanding a majority may sign a remonstrance, other applicants may apply. Unreasonable burden is entailed upon the people by this law, which has failed to secure a general decrease in the number of saloons. Since its enactment saloons in Indiana have increased on an average of 200 a year, being in a ratio of double the increase of population. Moreover, such a law does not sever the complicity of the State with the liquor business. It insults every honest citizen by assuming that until he has signed a remonstrance he shall be counted by the State and the saloon as favoring the infamous traffic.

Believing in equal rights for all and special privileges to none, we favor equal suffrage regardless of sex.

We declare ourselves in favor of legislation which will place labor and capital upon an equal footing before the law, both with regard to the rights of property and of individuals. To this end we recommend boards of arbitration, constituted with due authority and guaranty of strict impartiality in their decisions. We insist upon more rigid inspection of the condition of mines and all places where labor is employed.

We recognize with greatest apprehension for our public welfare, the growing disrespect for law observance. We fear for the perpetuity of our government and trace the cause of law violation, for the most part, to the licensed liquor traffic. Larger cities are under metropolitan police boards, determined by politicians who are influenced by the saloon element. We believe that the only safety to the people rests in the election of the candidates of the Prohibition party, who are free from the complicity and domination of the saloon power. We favor the impartial enforcement of all laws. We earnestly urge all voters of Indiana to join with us in this patriotic and unselfish endeavor.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

[April 28, 1904.]

The Republican party, in convention assembled, presents with profound satisfaction the achievements of the Nation since the party was founded, and intrusted by the people with the control of our Government.

It has reunited a divided country, freed the slaves, established the monetary system on a gold basis, restored the national credit and developed the American system of protection, until the United States is the leading industrial nation of the world.

In the cause of humanity it fought a victorious war on land and sea that other peoples might be released from the burdens of oppression.

These and other national deeds of peace and war under Republican administration have won the respect and praise of the world, and placed our country in the first rank amongst the nations.

And now, under continuing wise and patriotic leadership, the Republican party moves forward, maintaining and extending its policies and its purposes, and with unabated confidence again invites the support and suffrages of the people.

We heartily and unreservedly indorse the wise and patriotic administration of Theodore Roosevelt. The President has met the tremendous responsibilities of his great office upon the high level of national duty and national honor. His administration has been thoroughly Republican and genuinely American. It has advanced prosperity at home and maintained our national interests abroad. The laws have been fearlessly and impartially enforced as they were enacted by Congress. Evil-doers have been driven from the public service.

The people demand a continuance of the present stable and prosperous conditions, and we therefore favor the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt for President, and hereby instruct the delegates chosen by this convention to support his candidacy.

We pledge anew our confidence in the wisdom and efficacy of the protective tariff. This great Republican policy has abundantly justified itself, and its maintenance is essential to the continuance of our industrial independence and national prosperity. It is demanded alike in the interest of both American labor and capital. We favor changes of schedules as conditions demand, but such changes should only be made consistently with the policy of protection.

The Republican party has firmly established the gold standard against violent Democratic opposition. Our monetary system, which is the best in the world, is the rich fruit of Republican statesmanship. We have more money among the people than we ever had in the history of the Republic, and it is of unquestioned soundness and purchasing power.

We commend President Roosevelt for his faithful enforcement of the laws applicable to combinations of capital in restraint of wholesome trade and commerce, which the Democratic party, when in power, refused to execute; and to further prevent corporate evils we have placed on the statute books additional laws providing for publicity, preventing rebates by railroads, and creating a Department of Commerce and Labor for the more effectual supervision and enforcement of the laws.

We approve the reciprocity treaty with the Republic of Cuba.

Our relations with the new republic should always be such as are dictated by justice and generosity; to the end that the ties which bind the two peoples together in commerce and amity may continue close and unbroken.

We approve the course of President Roosevelt in protecting the imperiled interests of Americans upon the Isthmus of Panama; in promptly recognizing the independence of the people and the Republic of Panama, and in securing a treaty with that Republic under which the United States may construct an inter-oceanic canal in the interests of the commerce of the world; and we further commend the President for the promptness and energy with which he is pushing forward the work of this great enterprise.

American administration in the Philippines has resulted in peace to the people, honest government, equal justice to all, improvement in material conditions and the spread of education. No nation's work for civilization has surpassed that of the Republic in the archipelago. To that policy we will steadfastly adhere.

We favor the principle of arbitration in the adjustment of international disputes where they do not involve the national honor, and we commend the administration of President Roosevelt for its efforts to embody this principle in treaty compacts with other powers.

The Republican party can never forget the heroic services of our soldiers and sailors upon land and sea.

We believe in a just pension policy towards those who have borne the burden and heat of battle, their widows and orphans.

We heartily commend the administration of Governor Winfield T. Durbin and the officials associated with him in the management of State affairs. It has been an administration characterized by jealous regard for the welfare of the taxpaying public, by zealous and successful endeavor for the promotion of high standards in the conduct of the State's institutions, and by a manifest devotion to the principle of complete divorcement of public affairs from partisan purposes, and that the same scrupulous care and close accountability should be required in the transaction of the business of the State as in the conduct of the affairs of any other great business institution. It has been an administration rendered notable in the history of the State by the vindication, in a crisis, of the majesty of the law, which has attracted to it the favorable attention of the country.

During the last ten years of Republican control of State affairs, the State debt has been reduced from \$7,520,615.12 to \$2,162,615.12, and the State tax levy has been reduced from 32 cents to 30 $\frac{1}{4}$ cents on each \$100 of taxable property.

The average gross maintenance per capita of all the State institutions has been reduced from $178.76 in 1893, to $160.18 in 1903, and with a population in these institutions of 12,640, as shown by the last statistical report, this alone effects a saving to the taxpayers of $234,867.92 per annum.

During this period 50 per cent. of the contract labor in the State prisons has been abolished, and by statutory limitation only two more years remain for the continuance of the contract labor system in the Reformatory at Jeffersonville. We declare our opposition to any renewal of the labor contracts at the Indiana Reformatory, and we are in favor of providing, in the language of the statute establishing the Reformatory, "for the thorough training of each and every inmate of the institution, giving him such an education, training in industry or handicraft as will enable him upon his release to more fully earn his own support and make him a more self-reliant and self-supporting citizen."

Among other wise and just measures placed upon the statute books during this period are the acts creating a labor commission, and providing means for the settlement of the disputes between the employer and the employe, and providing that all fees of State officers and miscellaneous receipts of State institutions be turned directly into the State treasury.

In 1893, under Democratic statutes and Democratic administration, these fees amounted to only $99,704.45 per annum; under Republican statutes and Republican administration in 1903 the fees from this source turned into the general fund amounted to $488,583.78, a net saving to the taxpayers of $388,879.33 per annum.

During this period there have also been placed upon the statute books laws providing for factory inspection, prohibiting the employment of child labor and providing safeguards in the auditing of public expenses.

Through the passage of the mortgage exemption law over 100,000 owners of homes are now receiving the benefit of a just reduction of their taxes.

Through Republican legislation and administration during this period the benevolent and penal institutions have been lifted from political control and the wards of the State have been assured humane and efficient treatment. We renew our pledge of devotion to the policy of nonpartisanship in the control of these institutions, believing that the trust imposed upon those having their affairs in hand is too sacred to be discharged with any end in view but the interests of the commonwealth and the welfare of those thus committed to its care.

These and other acts of legislation and administration illustrate the devotion of the Republican party to the common weal, and to the continuance and amplification of such policies we pledge ourselves.

We are in favor of such wise and just legislation as will adequately protect the shipping, producing and consuming interests of the State, and prevent unjust discrimination in rates and shipping facilities.

We favor placing private banks under State control and regulation.

Primary elections and party nominations should be amply safeguarded both by law and party practice. We heartily approve the action of the State committee in promulgating wholesome rules governing the selection of delegates to State, district and legislative conventions.

The State committee is directed to consider the advisability of a further system of party rules which shall apply to county, township and other local primaries or assemblies, and is empowered to adopt the same.

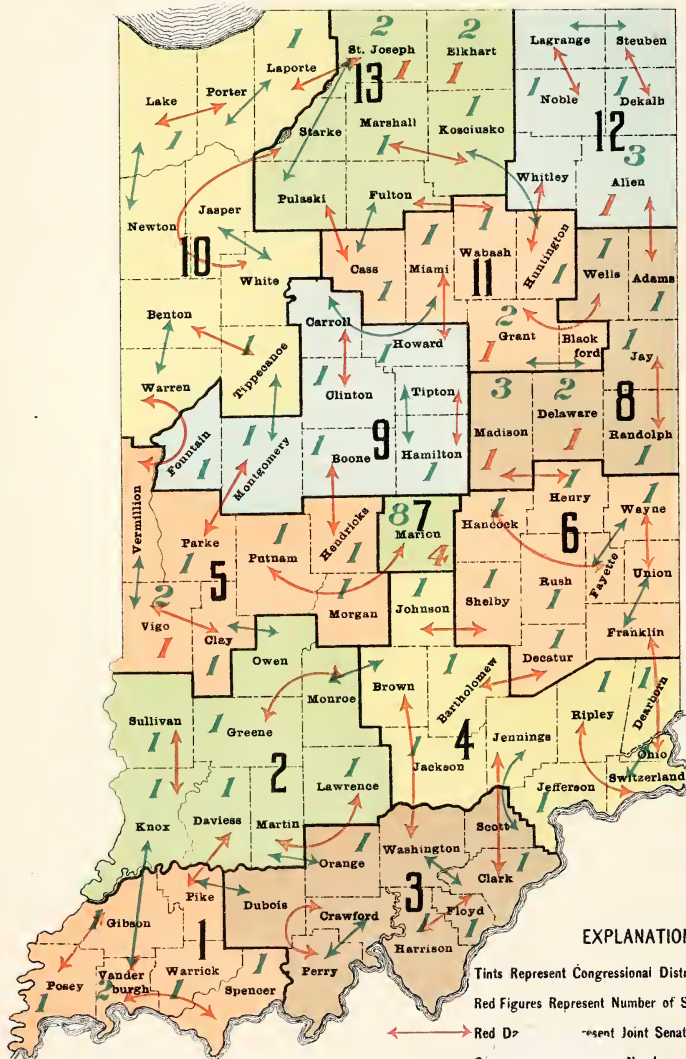

We demand the enactment by the Legislature of such additional laws, or amendments to existing legislation, as may be necessary to secure fair and honest nominations of candidates by all parties.

Since the succession of the Republican party to legislative responsibilities in Indiana in 1895, more than thirty important laws for the benefit and protection of labor have been placed upon the statute books of the State, and these give assurance of further measures under Republican rule in the matter of legislation for the just safeguarding of the interests of the wage-earner.

No State in the Union is more ably represented in the House of Representatives than the State of Indiana by its Republican members. They are men of character, ability and influence, and the people of the State have a just appreciation of the splendid record they have made.

The Republicans of Indiana are proud of the high rank and conspicuous services of Charles W. Fairbanks and Albert J. Beveridge, in the Senate of the United States, and most heartily approve the record of each of these distinguished leaders in that great legislative body.

We congratulate all friends of wise and sane governmental policies on the return of Mr. Fairbanks to the Senate for a second term, by the last General Assembly. Likewise, the next General Assembly should act with equal wisdom in returning Albert J. Beveridge as his own successor to the place in the national councils where his splendid talents have brought honor to his State and Nation. We unreservedly indorse Senator Beveridge for re-election, and commend him to the Republican delegation in the next General Assembly as the choice of the Republicans of Indiana, and as deserving the unanimous support of the members of his party in that body.

PLAT OF THE SENATE FOR 1905—SIXTY-FOURTH SESSION.

PLAT OF THE HOUSE FOR 1905—SIXTY-FOURTH SESSION.

Standing Rules and Orders for the Government of the Senate.

1. The President shall take the chair every legislative day precisely at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and 2 o'clock in the afternoon, unless the Senate by motion shall have adjourned to some other hour appointed by such motion. He shall immediately call the Senators to order, and on the appearance of two-thirds shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read.

2. Twenty-one Senators, with the President, or twenty-two in his absence, having chosen a President pro tem., shall be authorized to call a Senate, compel the attendance of absent Senators, make an order for their fine or censure, and may adjourn.

3. The President shall preserve order and decorum, may speak to points of order in preference to Senators, rising for that purpose; and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any two Senators, on which appeal no Senator shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the Senate.

4. The President shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting, and shall put questions in this form, to wit: "As many as are in favor (as the question may be) say 'aye,'" and after the affirmative voice is expressed, "As many as are opposed say 'No.'" If he doubts, or a division is called for, the Senate shall divide; those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative.

5. The presiding officer shall have general direction of the Senate Chamber, and of the officers and employes of the Senate. In the absence of the President, the President pro tem. shall preside over the Senate, and in the absence of the President and President pro tem., the Senate shall select some Senator to preside.

6. The President shall, when the Senate is equally divided, give the casting vote.

7. Forty-two standing committees, not to exceed seven members each, except as herein otherwise stated, shall be selected and appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

1st. On Elections.

- 42d. On Criminal Code.

8. The various committees shall perform such services, and take into consideration all subjects and matters required of them by the Senate. The Committee on Elections shall have leave to report at any time on the right of a Senator to his seat, by presenting its report to the Senate, or by filing same with the Secretary thereof; and the report of such committee shall be a question of the highest privilege, and may be called up at any time by the Chairman of the Committee on Elections or any member thereof; and when called up, the action of the Senate, and all the proceedings thereon, shall be the same as if said report had been called up as provided in Rule 9.

9. As soon as the Journal shall have been read and approved, or the reading dispensed with, any Senator may call up for consideration any contest which may have been reported by the Committee on Elections, or a majority thereof, and shall be entitled to address the Senate thereon.

10. No committee, except the Committee on Rules, shall sit during the sitting of the Senate without special leave.

11. All questions relating to the priority of business shall be decided without debate.

12. Every Senator shall be present at all sittings of the Senate, unless excused or necessarily absent; and shall vote on each question put, unless he has a direct personal or pecuniary interest in the event of such question; and the question of excusing a Senator shall be decided without debate.

13. Upon a division and count of the Senate on any question, no Senator without the bar shall be counted.

14. Each motion, except the motion to adjourn, to lie on the table, for the previous question, to postpone indefinitely, to commit, or to suspend the further reading of the minutes, shall be in writing, signed by the maker, and if demand be made, shall require a second. It shall be handed to the Secretary and read aloud before debate.

15. After a motion is read, and stated by the President, it shall be in the possession of the Senate, but by consent of the Senate may be withdrawn at any time before decision or amendment.

16. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be in order except—

- 1st. To take up or receive the report of the Committee on Elections.
- 2d. To adjourn.
- 3d. To lay on the table.
- 4th. For the previous question.
- 5th. To postpone to a certain day.
- 6th. To commit.
- 7th. To amend.
- 8th. To postpone indefinitely.

Which several motions shall have precedence in the foregoing order.

17. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted upon during the session.

18. The previous question shall be put in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" Until it is decided it shall preclude all debate, and the introduction of all further amendments. The previous question having been ordered, the main question shall be the first question in order, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the Senate to a direct vote on the subsidiary questions then pending, in their order, and then on the main question. When operating under the previous question, there shall be no debate or explanation of votes.

19. Motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the Senate.

20. Any Senator may call for the division of a question where the sense will admit of it.

21. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.

22. When a motion has been once made and decided, it shall be in order for any Senator of the prevailing side to move a reconsideration thereof, on any day during the session; but such motion to reconsider shall be entertained but once during the session, and when made upon a subsequent day shall lie over one day before being acted upon.

23. Petitions, memorials and other papers addressed to the Senate may be presented by the President or by any Senator.

24. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when the previous question is pending, and shall be decided without debate. The question pending on adjournment shall be resumed on reassembling, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate.

25. It shall be in order for the chairmen of the committees on Phraseology of Bills and Enrolled Bills to report at any time when no question is before the Senate.

26. No Senator shall introduce a bill unless he shall have previously sent to the President of the Senate a card stating the nature of the proposed bill and the subject to which it relates.

27. The first reading of a bill shall be for information, and if objection be made to it, the question shall be: "Shall the bill be received?" If no objection be made, or the objection be not sustained, the bill shall then, if no motion be made to the contrary, be committed to a regular or select committee, or to a Committee of the Whole Senate. If the bill be referred to a Committee of the Whole Senate, the Senate shall determine on what day it shall be considered.

28. The committee to which a bill shall have been referred may report thereon with or without amendments, or may report a substitute therefor. If no minority report be made, the question shall be upon concurring in the report of the committee without any motion therefor. If a minority report be made, the question shall be upon concurring in the minority report, and if not concurred in, the question shall then recur upon the majority report. If the action of the Senate be in favor of the passage of the bill, it shall then be printed in accordance with the provisions of Rule No. 43.

29. Reports of committees on bills which have been referred to them shall give the number of the bill, a part or all of its title, and the name of its author.

30. After commitment and report thereon to the Senate, or at any time before its passage, a bill may be recommitted.

31. No motion shall be received to amend a bill on its third reading.

32. When a bill has passed, it shall be certified by the Secretary, noting at the foot thereof the day of its passage.

33. In forming a Committee of the Whole Senate, the committee shall select a Chairman to preside.

34. Upon bills committed to a Committee of the Whole Senate, the bill shall first be read throughout by the Secretary, and then again read and debated by sections, leaving the title to be last considered. The body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the Secretary on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee; and so reported to the Senate; after report, the bill shall again be subject to debate and amendment before a vote to engross it be taken.

35. All questions, whether in committee or in the Senate, shall be put in the order in which they are moved, except that in filling up blanks the largest sum and the longest time shall be put first.

36. The rules of procedure in the Senate shall be observed in the Committee of the Whole Senate, so far as they may be applicable, and no Senator shall speak twice to any question until each Senator, choosing to speak, shall have spoken.

37. Each officer of the Senate shall take an oath for the true and faithful discharge of the duties of his office, and shall be deemed to continue in office until his successor is chosen.

38. It shall be the duty of the Doorkeeper to attend the Senate during its sittings, execute all commands and process to him given and directed, keep the Senate Chamber and furniture clean and in due order, and at all times keep the Chamber properly heated and ventilated; when requested to call a Senator he should do so by name, and shall exclude from within the bar of the Senate Chamber all persons except the President and officers and employes of the Senate, Senators, members of the House, and representatives of the press assigned to places on the floor of the Senate, and shall exclude from the Senate all persons except the President of the Senate, Senators, or persons admitted by them. Such persons shall be admitted only upon presentation to the Doorkeeper of a written pass signed by the President of the Senate, or a Senator, and such pass shall be non-transferable and shall be taken up at the door by the Doorkeeper.

39. When any matter is referred to a standing committee, the Senator introducing the same shall be a member of such committee during its deliberations thereon, but shall have no power to vote.

40. The daily order of transacting business shall be as follows, viz.:

1. Reading and correcting the Journal of the preceding day.
2. Report of the Committee on Elections.
3. Reports of other standing committees.
4. Introduction of petitions, memorials and remonstrances.
5. Reports of select committees.
6. Resolutions of the Senate.
7. Joint resolutions.
8. Joint resolutions of the House.
9. Introduction of bills.
10. Messages from the House.
11. Senate bills on second reading.
12. Senate bills on third reading.
13. House bills on first reading.
14. House bills on second reading.
15. House bills on third reading.

This order of business may be suspended upon a majority vote of the Senators present.

41. The title to a bill shall not be adopted until after the bill has passed.

42. When a bill or joint resolution shall have failed for want of a constitutional majority, but shall have received the vote of a majority of the Senators present, it may be called up in its order by any Senator, on any subsequent day, but when it shall have failed to receive the votes of a majority of the Senators present, it shall again be called up only by a motion to reconsider.

43. The reports of conference committees for the adjustment of differences between the Senate and House shall be laid over one day before action thereon, unless a majority of the Senators present shall otherwise order.

44. Whenever a bill is reported by a committee with the recommendation that it pass, two hundred copies of said bill shall be forthwith printed, and two copies laid on the desk of each Senator, and no bill shall be read a second time until one day after such distribution, unless the Senate otherwise order. Whenever any committee report in favor of the passage of a bill with amendments, said bill shall be printed, showing the parts stricken out of said bill, if any, in canceled type, and the additions made thereto, if any, in italic type. The Secretary of the Senate shall cause to be stamped upon each copy of a bill, which shall be laid upon the desk of a Senator, the day of such distribution.

45. When the introduction of bills is in order, the list of Senators shall be called alphabetically, and each Senator shall be permitted to introduce only two bills each time his name is so called, and the name of no Senator shall be called a second time until the entire list has been called, and on the call of bills on the second and third reading, the names of Senators shall be called alphabetically, and the name of no Senator shall be called a second time until the entire list has been called.

46. All proposed amendments to the rules shall be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate, and said committee shall have the right to report at any time, and may at any time report any change in the rules, or in the order of business, and any such report shall be immediately disposed of, and such change in the rules, or in the order of business, shall be determined by a majority of the Senators present.

47. The Journal of the Senate shall be kept in due form by the Assistant Secretary of the Senate, and his signature shall attest the same.

48. Any bill or resolution not indorsed on the back thereof with the name of the Senator offering the same shall be regarded as out of order.

49. It shall be the duty of the Principal Secretary to indorse, over his signature, the number, in its order, of each bill and resolution, and the date when offered; and it shall be the further duty of the Secretary to keep all bills and resolutions on file in regular order.

50. An Assistant Doorkeeper shall be stationed at the door of the enrolling and engrossing room, and no person whomsoever, except the President of the Senate and Senators, and the clerks there employed, shall be allowed to enter such room at any time; and no one, except the Secretary of the Senate, or the chief of the clerks employed in such room, shall take from the room any enrolled or engrossed bill, or any other bill, amendment, memorandum or paper.

51. Decorum and Debate.

First—When any Senator desires to speak or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to the President, and, on being recognized, may address the Senate from any place on the floor, or from the Secretary's desk, and shall confine himself to the question under debate, avoiding personality. No Senator shall impeach the motives of any other Senator.

Second—When two or more Senators rise at once, the President shall name the Senator who is to speak first, and no Senator shall occupy more than one-half hour in debate on any question in Senate or in committee, except as further provided in this rule.

Third—The Senator reporting from a committee the measure under consideration may open and close, where general debate is had thereon.

Fourth—If any Senator in speaking, or otherwise, transgress the rules of the Senate, the President shall, or any Senator may, call him to order, in which case he shall immediately be seated, unless permitted, on motion of another Senator, to explain; and the Senate shall, if appealed to, decide on the case without debate. If the decision be in favor of the Senator called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed, but not otherwise; and, if the case requires it, he shall be liable to censure or such punishment as the Senate may deem proper.

Fifth—If a Senator be called to order for words spoken in debate, the Senator calling him to order shall indicate the words objected to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Secretary's desk and read aloud to the Senate at the time, but he shall not be held to answer nor be subject to the censure of the Senate therefor if further debate or other business has intervened.

Sixth—No Senator shall speak more than once to the same question without leave of the Senate, unless he be the mover, proposer or introducer of the matter pending, in which case he shall be permitted to speak in reply, but not until every Senator choosing to speak shall have spoken.

Seventh—While the President is putting a question or addressing the Senate, no Senator shall walk out of or across the Chamber, nor, when a Senator is speaking, pass between him and the chair; and during the session of the Senate, no Senator shall remain by the Secretary's desk during the call of the roll, and no person shall smoke within the Chamber, and the Doorkeeper is charged with the strict enforcement of this clause.

52. The Rules of the United States House of Representatives of the first session of the Fifty-eighth Congress shall apply to all points not covered by these rules.

Standing Rules and Orders for the Government of the House.

CHAPTER I.

TOUCHING THE DUTY OF SPEAKER.

1. The Speaker shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned on the preceding day; shall immediately call the members to order; and shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read, unless by a vote of the House the reading of the same be dispensed with.

2. The Speaker shall examine and correct the Journal before it is read. He shall have a general direction of the hall. He may name any member to perform the duties of the chair, but such substitution shall not extend beyond one day. He shall have the right to name any member to bear messages to the Senate, and to appoint all committees, unless otherwise specially directed by the House, in which case they shall be appointed by vote.

3. The Speaker shall preserve order and decorum. He may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any two members, which appeal shall be in writing and signed by the members taking such appeal, and shall clearly state the point of order decided by the Chair, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House: Provided, That no appeal from the decision of the chair shall prevail except by a majority of all members elected to the House.

4. The Speaker may state a question sitting, but shall rise to put a question to the vote of the House.

5. Questions shall be substantially put in this form, namely: "As many as are of the opinion that (as the question may be), say aye," and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion, say no." If the Speaker doubts, or a division be called for, the House shall divide, those in the affirmative shall first rise from their seats and remain standing until they are counted, and afterwards those in the negative in like manner. If the Speaker still doubts, or a count be required, the Speaker shall name two members, one from each side, to tell those in the affirmative and negative, and the results being reported, he shall rise and report the decision of the House.

6. The Speaker shall vote in all elections; when the yeas and nays are taken, his name being called last; and upon all other questions, when the House is equally divided, he shall give the casting vote, or when his vote would make an equal division he shall vote upon the call of any member; and in all cases of equal division the question shall be lost.

7. He shall sign all acts, addresses, joint resolutions, writs, warrants, and subpoenas of, or issued by order of, the House, and decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal by any two members, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by permission of the House.

8. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, the Speaker (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House) shall have the power to order the same to be cleared.

9. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any member request it.

10. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the Speaker, or, being in writing, read aloud by the Clerk, and seconded before it shall be debated; after which it shall be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before a decision or amendment.

CHAPTER II.

RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF MEMBERS.

11. No member shall absent himself from the service of the House unless he have leave, or be sick and unable to attend.

12. Seven members, with the Speaker, or eight members in his absence, one of whom they shall elect Speaker pro tem., may then call the House to order, compel the attendance of absent members, make an order for their fine and censure, and adjourn from day to day until a quorum shall be in attendance.

13. When any member desires to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address "Mr. Speaker," but shall not proceed until recognized by the Speaker, and shall confine himself to the question under consideration, and avoid personality, nor shall he impeach the motive of any member's vote or argument.

14. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker, or any other member, may call him to order, in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and the House shall, if appealed to, decide on the case in accordance with the proviso in Rule 3, but without debate. If there be no appeal, the decision of the Chair shall be submitted to. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise he shall not be permitted to proceed, in case any member objects, without leave of the House; and, if the case requires it, he shall be liable to the censure of the House.

15. If a member be called to order for words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall repeat the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's table; and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to the censure of the House, for words spoken in debate, if any other member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exception to them shall have been taken.

16. While the Speaker is putting any question or addressing the House, no member shall walk out of or across the House; nor, in such case, or when a member is speaking or delivering any matter to the House, shall pass between him and the Chair. Every member shall remain uncovered during the session of the House. No member or other person shall visit or remain by the Clerk's table while the yeas and nays are being called.

17. Every member who shall be in the House when the question is put shall give his vote, unless the House, for special reasons, shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member from voting shall be made before the House divides, or before the call of the yeas and nays is commenced; and no call of the yeas and nays shall be entertained on a motion to excuse a member from voting. But any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief verbal statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question then be taken without further debate; and the refusal of a member to vote who is present and has not been excused from voting will be a high breach of decorum, and will subject the person so offending to a fine, censure and such other punishment as the House may order and impose.

18. No member shall vote on any question in the result of which he is immediately and particularly interested, or in any case when he was not within the bar of the House pending roll-call, unless by consent of the House; and in no case shall such absent member be allowed to vote after the result has been announced, when his vote shall change the decision of the question. For the purpose of determining whether a quorum is present, all members within the House when the question is stated by the Speaker, and the vote is on a call of yeas and nays, shall be counted, and such of them as fail to respond to their names, when called, shall be noted by the Clerk as present and not voting. The hall of the House shall be deemed and held to include the entire chamber in which this body holds its sessions, and the bar of the House all of the space within the railing on the south side of the chamber and within the line of pillars on the west side.

19. When two or more members happen to rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is first to speak.

20. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without the leave of the House, nor more than once until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken. And if a question be undisposed of by adjournment of the House, when resumed on the succeeding day, no member who shall have spoken twice on the preceding day shall be permitted again to speak without leave of the House.

21. The member who introduces a bill or joint resolution shall have a right to fifteen minutes of time to close the debate upon it, when it shall have reached its third reading. The right secured by this rule shall not be impaired, even after a demand for the previous question, but shall at all times remain in full force.

22. Members having petitions and memorials to present may hand them to the Speaker, indorsing the same with their names, and the reference or disposition to be made thereof, and such petitions and memorials shall be entered on the Journal, and shall be referred by the Speaker to the appropriate committees. And if any petition or memorial shall be so handed in, which, in the judgment of the Speaker, is not respectful and temperate, and free from offensive imputations upon the character or conduct of the Assembly, or other constituted authority, it shall be returned to the member from whom it was received. Any member having any petition, memorial, remonstrance, resolution, bill or other matter of which he was the mover or introducer, shall have a right to meet with and act as a member of the committee during the time said committee may have such subject under consideration, except that he shall not have a right to vote in said committee unless he be a regular member thereof.

23. During the reading of the Journal of the House no member, officer or employe of the House, whose station is within the bar of the House, shall leave his station or seat unless he shall have the consent of the House therefor.

CHAPTER III.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

24. As soon as the Journal is read, and the unfinished business in which the House was engaged at the last preceding adjournment has been disposed of, reports from committees shall be called for and disposed of, in doing which the Speaker shall call upon each standing committee in regular order, and then upon select committees; this order of business to continue for one hour, to be called the morning hour, if reports of committees under this order shall consume the hour. And if the Speaker shall not get through the call upon the committees before the House passes to other business, he shall resume the next call where he left off, giving preference to the report last under consideration: Provided, That whenever any committee shall have occupied the morning hour on two successive days it shall not be in order for such committee to report further until the other committees shall have been called in their turn.

25. Reports from committees having been presented and disposed of, the Speaker shall call for resolutions and bills from members by counties, arranged alphabetically, and if on any day all the counties shall not be called, the Speaker shall begin the next day where he left off the previous day: Provided, That no member shall present more than two bills or resolutions under the call each day.

26. After two hours shall have been devoted to reports from committees, resolutions and bills, it shall be in order, pending the consideration or discussion thereof, to entertain a motion that the House do now proceed to dispose of the business on the Speaker's table, and to the order of the day, which, being decided in the affirmative, the Speaker shall dispose of the business on his table in the following order:

First. Executive and other communications.

Second. Messages from the Senate and amendments proposed by the Senate to bills of the House.

Third. Bills and resolutions from the Senate on their first reading that they may be referred to committees and put under way; but on being read a second time, they are to be ordered to their third reading, unless objection be made, in which case, if not otherwise ordered by a majority of the House, they are laid on the table in the general file of bills on the Speaker's table, to be taken up in their turns.

Fourth. Engrossed House bills and bills from the Senate on their third reading.

Fifth. Bills of the House on their engrossment and from the Senate on the Speaker's table, on being ordered to a third reading, to be taken up and considered in the order of time in which they passed to a second reading.

Sixth. The Speaker may order bills read a second time to the exclusion of other business (except special orders) on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Seventh. The messages, communications and bills on his table having been disposed of, the Speaker shall then proceed to call the orders of the day.

27. The consideration of the unfinished business in which the House may be engaged at an adjournment shall have preference in the order of the day, and no motion on any other business after the reading of the Journal shall be received without special leave of the House, until the former is disposed of.

CHAPTER IV.

HOUSE STANDING COMMITTEES.

28. The following shall be the standing committees, which shall severally consist of nine members, except the Committee on Ways and Means, Congressional and Legislative Apportionment, and on Fees and Salaries, each of which shall be composed of one member from each congressional district, except the Committee on Correction of the Journal, which shall be composed of five members, and the Speaker may, in his discretion, increase the Committee on The Judiciary to the number of eleven, and except the Committee on Criminal Code, which shall consist of not less than nine, nor more than thirteen members, in the discretion of the Speaker. Said committees shall be appointed by the Speaker at the commencement of each session in the following order, namely:

1. On Elections.
2. On Ways and Means.
3. On The Judiciary.
4. On Organization of Courts of Justice.
5. On Banks.
6. On Building and Loan and Savings Associations.
7. On Education.
8. On Affairs of the Indiana Reformatory.
9. On Affairs of the Indiana State Prison.
10. On Swamp Lands.
11. On Military Affairs.
12. On Claims.
13. On Trust Funds.
14. On Fees and Salaries.

15. On Sinking Fund.
16. On Rights and Privileges of the Inhabitants of the State.
17. On Railroads.
18. On Manufactures and Commerce.
19. On County and Township Business.
20. On Agriculture.
21. On Benevolent and Scientific Institutions.
22. On Public Morals.
23. On Mileage and Accounts.
24. On Corporations.
25. On Rivers and Waters.
26. On Public Expenditures.
27. On Federal Relations.
28. On Affairs of the City of Indianapolis.
29. On Cities and Towns.
30. On Engrossed Bills.
31. On Roads.
32. On Statistics and Immigration.
33. On Insurance.
34. On Printing.
35. On Reformatory Institutions.
36. On Drains and Dykes.
37. On Mines and Mining.
38. On Labor.
39. On State Medicine, Health and Vital Statistics.
40. On Correction of the Journal, of which the Speaker of the House shall be chairman.
41. On Natural Resources of the State.
42. On Phraseology of Bills.
43. On Congressional Apportionment.
44. On Legislative Apportionment.
45. On Telegraph and Telephone.
46. On Soldiers' Monument.
47. On State Soldiers' Home and State Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home.
48. On Public Libraries.
49. On Criminal Code.

29. It shall be the duty of the several standing committees to examine into and report upon all matters that properly belong to them, and all matters that may be referred to them, either by bill or otherwise.

30. It shall be the imperative duty of the Committee on Engrossed Bills to carefully compare the engrossed with the original bills and joint resolutions, and ascertain whether they have, in all respects, been accurately and correctly engrossed; and if such committee ascertain any mistake, the same shall be corrected under their direction.

31. It shall be in order for the Committee on Engrossed and Enrolled Bills to report at any time when no question is before the House, and such committee may hand their reports to the Principal Clerk without notice to the House.

32. No committee shall sit during the session of the House without special leave.

CHAPTER V.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

33. In forming a Committee of the Whole, the Speaker shall leave the chair and designate some member of the House to preside as Chairman.

34. Upon a bill being committed to a Committee of the Whole, the same shall be first read through by the Clerk (unless otherwise ordered by a majority), and then again read for amendment by sections, leaving the preamble, if any, and the title to be last considered. After report, when the bill is reported to the House, it shall again be read, if desired by a majority, for amendment and debate before a question for engrossing it shall be taken.

35. The body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined, and all amendments shall be disposed of by the committee, either by adoption or rejection, and all such as have been agreed to shall be duly entered by the Clerk on a separate paper, and shall be incorporated with the motion to rise and report to the House, and shall be so reported to the House and the same shall be considered in the House in the order in which they were adopted in the committee.

36. The rules of proceeding in the House shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, so far as the same are applicable, except the rule limiting the time of speaking; but no member shall speak twice to any question until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

37. All questions in Committee of the Whole (not privileged questions) shall be propounded in the order in which they are moved, except that in filling up blanks the largest sum and the longest time shall be first put.

38. No motion or proposition for a tax or charge upon the people shall be discussed the day on which it is made or offered, and every bill for such purpose shall receive its first discussion in the Committee of the Whole House.

39. It shall be in order to introduce and discuss any resolution, properly relating to public affairs, when in Committee of the Whole, with a view to test the sense of the House upon the question proposed.

CHAPTER VI.

CONCERNING BILLS, JOINT RESOLUTIONS AND HOUSE RESOLUTIONS.

40. Every resolution of the House shall be written on not less than a full half sheet of paper, and shall be signed by the member offering it.

41. Bills and joint resolutions out of the regular order may be introduced on the report of a committee; and resolutions concerning business pertaining to the House and concurrent resolutions, in which concurrent action is asked of the Senate, when offered during the call of counties, shall lie over until completion of the call. The Committee on Ways and Means shall be allowed to report at any time.

42. The first reading of a bill shall be for information, and, if opposition be made to it, the question shall be: "Shall the bill be rejected?" If no opposition be made, or the question to reject be negatived, the bill shall then, if no motion be made to the contrary, be committed to a regular or select committee, or to the Committee of the Whole House. If the bill be referred to the Committee of the Whole House, the House shall determine on what day it shall be considered.

43. A committee to which a bill shall have been referred may report thereon with or without amendments, and the bill when returned, together with the report, shall go to the Speaker's table for its second reading, and, upon that order of business being reached, it shall be taken up in the order in which it was reported, read a second time, together with the report of the committee; if any amendment is reported, the first question shall be on the adoption of the amendment as reported by the committee; the Speaker shall then state that the bill is ready for amendment, recommitment or engrossment.

44. General appropriation bills shall be in order in preference to any other bills, unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the House. The House, at any time, by a majority vote, may make any appropriation bill a special order.

45. A motion to strike out the enacting clause of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be equivalent to its rejection. Whenever a bill is reported from the Committee of the Whole with a recommendation to strike out the enacting clause, and such recommendation is disagreed to by the House, the bill shall stand recommitted to the said committee without further action of the House.

46. If any bill or other proposition be referred to a committee and any member of such committee make a minority report, such report shall be regarded as an amendment to the report of the committee.

47. All bills and joint resolutions ordered to be engrossed shall be executed in a fair, round hand.

48. After commitment and report to the House, a bill may be recommitted to the same or any other committee, either with or without instruction. But after a bill or joint resolution has been engrossed and ordered to a third reading, it shall not be amended except by unanimous consent, but may be recommitted, with special instructions, by a two-thirds vote; and, in case any bill or Joint Resolution is amended after engrossment, the question shall again be put on the engrossment of the bill or Joint Resolution.

49. When a bill or Joint Resolution shall be put on its passage, and shall receive a majority of the votes cast, but not the number of votes required by the Constitution, the same shall not be considered lost; but, when the third reading of bills and Joint Resolutions is in order any member who voted with the majority, or who did not vote at all, may call the same up, and the House shall take another vote thereon, and any number of votes may be taken in such cases by the House, but there shall be no debate thereon.

50. No bill or Joint Resolution shall, at any time, be amended by annexing thereto, or incorporating therewith, any other bill or resolution pending before the House.

CHAPTER VII.

YEAS AND NAYS.

51. When the yeas and nays are taken upon any question, the names of the members shall be called alphabetically. After the call of the roll has been ordered, no motion shall be made in reference thereto, or debate had thereon. Nor shall any motion to adjourn, postpone or otherwise change the question on which the yeas and nays are being taken, be in order until the call thereof is completed, and the result announced by the Speaker.

52. When any vote is taken by the yeas and nays the question shall be stated substantially in the following manner, namely: "As many as are of the opinion that, etc., will, when their names are called, answer 'aye,' and as many as are of a different opinion, will, when their names are called, answer 'no.'" And when the vote is taken upon the passage of any bill or Joint Resolution, and when the same may be demanded by two members of the House, the Clerk shall, after the roll has been gone through, first read over the names of those who have answered in the affirmative, and then the names of those who have answered in the negative, in order that, if he has made any mistakes in noting the answer, or if any member has made a mistake in his answer, the mistake of either may be corrected.

53. Upon the call of the House, the names of the members shall be called by the Clerk, and absentees noted; after which the names of the absentees shall again be called; the doors shall then be shut, and those from whom no excuse, or insufficient excuses, are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody wherever found by the Doorkeeper, or other officer or messenger appointed for that purpose.

54. When a member shall be discharged from custody and admitted to his seat, the House shall determine whether such discharge shall be with or without paying fines, and in like manner whether a delinquent member, taken into custody by a special messenger, shall or shall not be liable to defray the expenses of such special messenger.

CHAPTER VIII.

ON THE DIGNITY AND PRIVILEGE OF QUESTIONS.

55. No motion or proposition on a subject not germane to that under consideration shall be admitted under color of an amendment.

56. A motion to adjourn, and a motion to lie on the table, shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate. A motion to fix a time to which the House shall adjourn is always in order, and is undebatable, if made while another question is pending; but, if made when no other question is pending, it is debatable.

A motion to adjourn shall not be put while the question is pending on seconding the demand for the previous question.

When less than a quorum is present no motion shall be entertained except to adjourn, or for a call of the House.

A motion for adjournment, or for the order of the day, can not be made by one member while another is speaking.

A motion which has been decided out of order can not be renewed.

Motions to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, may be amended, and shall have precedence in the order named.

57. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lie on the table, for the previous question, to postpone to a day certain, to postpone indefinitely, to commit or amend, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged; and no motion to postpone to a day certain, commit, or to postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day, at the same stage of the bill or other proposition. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill or Joint Resolution shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection.

58. When a motion is made to refer any subject, and different committees are named, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. To the Committee of the Whole.
2. Standing committee.
3. A select committee.

And if the motion of reference is to different standing committees, the question shall be taken in the order in which the committees are named.

59. Any member may call for the division of a question before or after the main question is ordered, which shall be divided, if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the House. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost shall preclude neither amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

60. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a direct vote upon a motion to commit, if such motion shall have been made, and if this motion does not prevail, then upon amendments reported by a committee, if any, then upon pending amendments, and then upon the main question. But its only effect, if a motion to postpone is pending, shall be to bring the House to a vote upon such motion. On the previous question there shall be no debate. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate. And after a demand for the previous question has been seconded by the House, no motion shall be entertained to excuse a member from voting. The ordering of the previous question shall not prevent a member from explaining his vote, but no member, under this rule, shall be permitted more than one minute for that purpose.

61. When a motion has once been made and carried in the affirmative or negative it shall be in order for any member having voted with the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof, on the same or the succeeding day, and such motion shall take precedence of all other questions, except a motion to adjourn, and shall not be withdrawn after the said succeeding day without the consent of the House, and thereafter any member may call it up for consideration.

62. Any member may change his vote before the result is announced; and afterward, by leave of the House, provided such change will not affect the result.

63. When a question is postponed indefinitely, or when a motion to reconsider has been laid upon the table, the same shall not be acted on again during the session.

64. When a paper is first presented to the House it shall be a matter of right in any member to have it read before the House shall vote upon it. If the paper has been once read, or the reading dispensed with, and the reading be again required and objected to, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.

65. A motion to lay proposed amendments on the table, if it prevails, shall not affect the general subject to which said amendments are offered.

66. Every bill reported favorably by a committee and such other bills as the House may direct, shall be printed, unless the committee reporting such bill shall recommend that such bill shall not be printed. All bills shall be printed in bill form, the pages and lines to be numbered. The outer margin of each page to be not less than one and one-fourth inch, and shall be placed on the desk of each member not later than on the day preceding the day that the bill shall be taken up for second reading: Provided, That this rule shall not apply to bills reported during the last week of the session: Provided further, That all bills shall be printed on good paper. This rule shall not apply to the general appropriation bill.

67. No motion to suspend the constitutional rule requiring a bill to be read on three several days shall be entertained unless seconded by a majority of the House.

CHAPTER IX.

DUTIES OF OFFICERS OF THE HOUSE.

68. The Principal and Assistant Clerks and their assistants, and the Doorkeeper and his assistants, shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and of the State of Indiana, and to faithfully, impartially and honestly discharge the duties of their offices.

69. The Clerk shall keep a journal of the decisions of the Chair, to be inserted at the close of the Journal of the House.

70. Inasmuch as the number a bill takes when introduced by a member is only for convenience in filing the same, and a convenient reference in the matter of order, and is no part of the bill or act itself, it shall be the duty of the Assistant Clerk of the House to see that the title of every bill introduced appears on the Journal of the House, at every action thereon; that all joint resolutions amending the Constitution of the State shall appear of record in full, at each action thereon, and all motions, resolutions, reports, petitions and amendments to bills or other matters shall appear of record in a manner approved by the committee to examine the Journal.

71. It shall be the duty of the Doorkeeper to attend to the House during its sessions, announce all messages, keep the hall and committee rooms in perfect order, to prevent smoking in the halls and lobbies at all times, to maintain order in the lobbies and galleries, to execute all process issued by the authority of the House, and directed to him by the Speaker, and in all things to execute the commands of the Speaker and of the House.

CHAPTER X.

MISCELLANEOUS.

72. The sessions of the House shall commence at 10 o'clock a. m. and 2 o'clock p. m. of each legislative day: Provided, however, That for the first fourteen days, unless otherwise ordered, there shall be but one session each day, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m.

73. All claims against the State shall first be presented in the House and referred to the Committee on Claims before being referred to any other committee.

74. When messages, including bills in all their phases, acts for the signature of the Speaker, and joint or concurrent resolutions are received from the Senate by the House, they shall be announced at the door by the Doorkeeper, and shall be respectfully communicated in writing to the Chair by the person by whom sent.

75. Any standing rule or order of the House, or order of business, may be rescinded, changed or suspended without previous notice, upon a constitutional majority vote of the House, and a motion for such purpose shall be in order at any time and shall have precedence over all other business.

76. No person, except members of the General Assembly and its officers, and members of the Executive and Judicial Departments of State, shall be admitted upon the floor of the House without the consent of the Speaker.

77. Upon all questions not provided for by these rules it is ordered that the rules of "Jefferson's Manual" shall be regarded as the parliamentary guide of this House.

Joint Rules

FOR CONDUCTING BUSINESS BETWEEN THE TWO HOUSES OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF INDIANA.

CHAPTER I.

1. While bills and joint resolutions are on their passage, between the two houses, they shall be on paper, under the signature of their clerks respectively.

2. After a bill or joint resolution shall have passed both houses it shall be duly enrolled on paper, and the Clerk of the house where it originated shall endorse upon the back thereof the house in which it originated, under which he shall place his signature.

3. Every bill or joint resolution, after being enrolled, shall be examined by the Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills, consisting of three from the Senate and six from the House, appointed as a standing committee for that purpose, one of whom on the part of the Senate and two from the House shall be sufficient to act, who shall compare the same with the engrossed bill, and correct any errors they may discover, so as to make it agree therewith, and make their report forthwith to their respective houses.

4. Every bill or joint resolution reported to have been duly enrolled shall be signed first by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, who shall send the same to the Senate; then by the President of the Senate; after which it shall be presented by the Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills to the Governor for his approbation and signature; and the said committee shall report to their respective houses the day of their presentation, which report shall be entered on the journals of each house.

5. All bills and joint resolutions shall be signed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate, in their houses respectively when in session, which shall be carefully noted on the journals of each house.

6. In every case of an amendment of a bill agreed to in one house, and dissented to in the other, if either house shall request a conference, and appoint a committee for that purpose, and the other house shall also appoint a committee to confer, such committees shall at a convenient hour, to be agreed upon by their chairmen, meet in the conference chamber, and state to each other verbally or in writing, as either shall choose, the reason of their respective houses for and against the amendment, and confer freely thereon, and report to each house their proceedings thereon. A Committee of Conference shall consist of two members from each house. After each house shall have adhered to their disagreement, a bill or resolution shall be lost.

7. When bills which shall have passed one house are ordered to be printed in the other, a greater number of copies shall not be printed than may be necessary for the use of the house making the order.

8. All bills introduced into the General Assembly, amending or repealing any previous law of this State, which has been incorporated into the Revised Statutes of 1881, shall contain not only a reference to the proper sections of the act amended or repealed, but also a reference thereto by the number of the section or sections in which the same occur in said Revised Statutes.

9. No bill that shall have passed one house shall be sent for concurrence to the other on the last two days of the session.

CHAPTER II.

MESSAGES BETWEEN THE TWO HOUSES.

10. Messages shall be sent by such persons as the President of the Senate, or Speaker of the House, may designate for that purpose.

11. When a message is sent to the Senate, or to the House of Representatives, it shall be announced at the door by the Doorkeeper, and it shall be respectfully communicated to the Chair, by the person by whom sent.

CHAPTER III.

JOINT CONVENTION—FOR ELECTION OF OFFICERS OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

12. All elections of officers to be elected by the General Assembly, except United States Senator, shall be elected on joint ballot of the two houses, convened for that purpose, at such time and place as shall be agreed to by both houses, and a majority of all the members elected to both houses shall be necessary to an election. Joint convention shall be held in the hall of the House of Representatives, and shall be presided over by the President of the Senate.

13. In all joint conventions and meetings of the two houses, it shall be incompetent for either house, or the members thereof, or the joint convention, to engage in the transaction of any business other than that for which they were so specifically assembled.

CHAPTER IV.

JOINT STANDING COMMITTEES.

14. The following standing committees, on the part of each house, shall be appointed to act as joint committees:

A standing Committee on Enrolled Bills, to consist of six on the part of the House and three on the part of the Senate.

A Committee on Public Buildings, to consist of five members from the House and four from the Senate.

A Committee on State Library, to consist of three members from each house.

CHAPTER V.

MISCELLANEOUS.

15. When any paper or papers, proper to be acted upon by both houses, shall come before either, the house before which such paper or papers are laid, shall, after acting thereupon, lay it or them before the other house.

16. In all cases where the Doorkeeper of one house shall, by reason of official engagements, or other cause be unable to execute the commands or process of the house of which he is an officer, it shall be the duty of the Doorkeeper of the other house to execute such commands, together with such process as may be directed to him by the presiding officer thereof.

17. No spirituous liquors shall be offered for sale or exhibited within the Capitol, or on the public grounds adjacent thereto.

18. Any amendments to these rules shall be referred to the Committee on Joint Rules.

Fixed Rules and Precedents in Legislation.

CHAPTER I.

BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS.

1. Every law is enacted by bill.
2. The style of every bill is:

"Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana."—Const., Art. IV, Sec. 1.
3. Every bill must be read on three several days.—Const., Art. IV, Sec. 18.
4. In case of an emergency, the constitutional rule requiring bills to be read on three several days may be suspended by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to either branch of the Legislature, at which time the bill may be read three times the same day.—Const., Art. IV, Sec. 18.
5. Regular order of procedure in the passage of a bill:
 - First. Introduction and first reading.
 - Second. Reference to a committee.
 - Third. Reports back from committee, with or without recommendations.
 - Fourth. Second reading, when it is open for amendment, commitment, or engrossment.
 - Fifth. Order to engrossment.
 - Sixth. Third reading.
 - Seventh. Vote on passage.
 - Eighth. Enrollment after passage by both houses.
6. Irregular order of procedure in the passage of a bill:
 - First. Introduction and first reading.
 - Second. Motion to suspend constitutional rule.
 - Third. Yeas and nays on suspension of rule.
 - Fourth. Read second time.
 - Fifth. Open for amendment, commitment or engrossment.
 - Sixth. Considered to be engrossed.
 - Seventh. Read third time.
 - Eighth. Vote on its passage.
 - Ninth. Enrollment after passage by both houses.
7. A bill when enacted into a law is perpetual until amended or repealed.
8. A joint resolution has the same binding effect as a bill and must take the same course in becoming a law, except that when its purpose is accomplished its force as a law is at an end.

9. The style or enacting clause of a joint resolution is: "Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana."

10. A joint resolution must be read on three several days, must be subjected to all changes that a bill is subjected to, and must be spread in full on the Journal of both branches of the General Assembly.—Const., Art. XVI, Sec. 1.

11. Bills and joint resolutions, when they have passed both branches of the General Assembly, and have been enrolled, must be first signed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, then by the President of the Senate, after which it is presented by the Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills to the Governor for his approval.—Joint Rule No. 4.

CHAPTER II.

RESOLUTIONS.

12. A resolution of either branch of the General Assembly applies only to business connected with the house in which it originates.

13. The style of such a resolution is: "Resolved (or be it resolved) by the House of Representatives, That," etc. Or, if it originates in the Senate, "Resolved (or be it resolved) by the Senate," etc.

14. A concurrent resolution pertains to business between the two branches of the General Assembly, and requires but one reading in either branch. The style is: "Be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, That," or, "Be it resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring, That—"

15. A concurrent resolution differs from the joint resolution in this:

First. That it may be adopted on its first reading.

Second. That any appropriation of money from the State Treasury can not be made by it.

Third. That it is not to be enrolled.

Fourth. That it is not signed by the Speaker, President of the Senate, or Governor.

Fifth. That if the subject requires it, its adoption may be certified to by the Clerk of the House, and the Secretary of the Senate.

Sixth. That its binding effect does not extend beyond the session in which it originates.

Seventh. That its principal use is that of a request or instruction by the two houses jointly.

Eighth. That, if a resolution of instruction, the practice is, that a copy of the original is certified to by the Secretary of the Senate and by the Clerk of the House, and delivered to or sent to its destination.

CHAPTER III.

MISCELLANEOUS.

16. Bills and joint resolutions must be preceded by title.

17. The title of a bill or joint resolution is no part of the body of the bill or joint resolution, and is not open for amendment or adoption until after the bill or joint resolution has passed.

18. The subject of a bill or joint resolution must be set forth in the title.

19. A bill, to be considered, must contain an enacting clause at the beginning of the first section.

20. A bill may be rejected at its introduction.

21. A bill or joint resolution, once rejected, can not be brought before the House during the session, except as new matter.

22. When the enacting clause of a bill or joint resolution is stricken out, it is equivalent to rejection, and such action can not be reconsidered.

23. A demand for the previous question must be seconded by the majority of the members present before the vote is taken on the demand.

24. The yeas and nays on a motion to adjourn must be demanded by one-tenth of the number of members present.

25. A motion to reconsider the vote by which a bill has passed is not in order after the bill has left the house in which such a motion is made until said bill is again in possession of that house.

26. A resolution may be adopted requesting the house to which the bill has been sent to return the same.

27. A substitute for a bill or resolution is merely one form of an amendment, and can not do away with the original, in case of a bill, except all after the enacting clause.

28. All after the enacting clause may be stricken out of a bill, but it still retains its place on the calendar as a bill.

29. A motion to reconsider a vote by which an amendment, or other proposition, is laid on the table, is not in order.

30. A motion to reconsider the vote to indefinitely postpone is not in order.

31. It is not in order to take from the table a motion to reconsider.

Biographies of Members of the Indiana
General Assembly.

(SIXTY-FOURTH SESSION.)

SENATE.

HUGH TH. MILLER.

Lieutenant-Governor and President of Senate.

Hugh Th. Miller, son of John C. Miller, Christian minister and some time member of the faculty of Butler College, Indianapolis, was born on the farm of his father and grandfather, near Nineveh, Johnson County, Indiana, March 21, 1867. His mother was Elizabeth Ann Garr, of Louisville, Kentucky. Having received his elementary and intermediate education at home, he was graduated (A.B.) at Butler College in 1888 (A.M., 1895). Studying later in Paris and Berlin, he became professor of romance languages at Butler, resigning in 1899 to become assistant cashier of Irwin's Bank, Columbus, Indiana. He is also secretary and treasurer of the Indianapolis, Columbus and Southern Traction Company. He was married December 26, 1900, to Nettie Irwin Sweeney, daughter of Z. T. Sweeney, Commissioner of Fisheries and Game, and granddaughter of Joseph I. Irwin, of Columbus. He was elected as a Republican to represent Bartholomew County in the House in 1902, never having held political office before, and was elected to the office of Lieutenant-Governor at the general election in 1904.

SMITH ASKREN.

Smith Askren represented the counties of Harrison and Floyd in the sixty-third and sixty-fourth sessions of the State Senate. He is a farmer, living near Moberly, Harrison County, and is a son of the late John Askren, who was also a leading farmer of the community. Senator Askren's mother's maiden name was Sarah Davis, and both she and her husband were natives of Harrison County.

Smith Askren was born near where he now lives, on the 9th day of July, 1848, and was married to Miss R. E. Wiseman, December 24, 1874. He attended the common schools in his boyhood, and took a two years' course at Hartsville College; also attended the State University for a short while, when ill health compelled him to give up an indoor life.

He has been justice of the peace and trustee of his township. Also, has served four terms in the lower house of the Indiana Legislature. He has always been a Democrat.

JAMES S. BARCUS.

James S. Barcus, of Terre Haute, Indiana, is an attorney-at-law and a publisher. He was born in Sullivan County, Indiana, March 18, 1863. His father, S. J. Barcus, was a farmer and blacksmith, whose ancestors were among the early settlers of Indiana, having emigrated from Ohio in the early part of the century. His mother's maiden name was Martha Hinkle, born in Indiana of parents who had emigrated from Pennsylvania. Mr. Barcus had but an ordinary common school education, and had taught three years in the common schools of Indiana at the time of his majority. He was married in Terre Haute to Bettie Belle Tichenor, at the home of Dr. F. M. Plekens. After his marriage he spent three years in school work at Ann Arbor, Michigan, and subsequent to that he spent three years in the study of law in Columbia University, New York, where he graduated in 1899, with the degree of LL.B. Mr. Barcus has no children.

He represented in the Senate during the sixty-third and sixty-fourth sessions the counties of Vigo, Parke and Vermillion, having been elected by the Republican party, of which he has always been an enthusiastic supporter. He had held no political office prior to his election to the State Senate.

ALBERT R. BEARDSLEY.

Albert R. Beardsley, of Elkhart, Senator from Elkhart County in the Sixty-fourth General Assembly, and Senator-elect for the sixty-fifth session, was born in Dayton, Ohio. His father was Elijah H. Beardsley, a wagonmaker, who was born September 7, 1807, in Delhi, N. Y., and his mother, whose maiden name was Matilda Lemon, was born in Springfield, Ohio, June 15, 1813.

Senator Beardsley received a common school education, after which he began his business career. He has been a merchant and manufacturer, and at present is a director of the First National Bank and treasurer of the Dr. Miles Medical Company. Mr. Beardsley has always been a Republican, and has always taken an active part in the affairs of his city and county. For four years he served as city clerk, four years more as city treasurer and then six years as city councilman. Previous to his election to the State Senate, he served a term as Representative in the House during the sixty-first session of the General Assembly. The Senator was appointed a colonel on the staff of Governor Mount, and served four years more with the same rank on the staff of Governor Durbin.

T. EDWIN BELL.

T. Edwin Bell, of Hammond, represented Lake and Porter Counties in the sixty-third and sixty-fourth sessions of the State Senate. He was born in Frontenac County, Ontario, Canada, on September 23, 1864. His father, John Bell, was born in Canada, and was a railroad contractor and farmer, and now retired. His mother, Ellen McKechnie, was born on the Bermuda Islands. Her father was an officer in the British army.

Senator Bell was educated in the common schools of Canada, and afterward graduated from a medical college in Philadelphia in 1886, and from the Philadelphia Dental College in 1887, but is now engaged in the real estate business in Hammond, East Chicago and Indiana Harbor. He is a staunch Republican, was at one time coroner of Lake County, and in 1896 was chairman of the Lake County Republican Central Committee. He was married in 1891 to Lena Caroline Hohman.

JOHN BENZ.

John Benz, the Senator who represented the counties of Crawford, Perry and Spencer during the sixty-fourth session, is a native of Roethenbach, Germany, where he was born May 9, 1834. Both of his parents were Germans. His father, Jacob Benz, was a brewer and was born in 1799, and his mother, whose maiden name was Mary Heinzelman, was born six years later.

Senator Benz received his education in the common schools of his native land, and then learned the tailoring business. He came to this country in 1852, and landed at New Orleans. From there he went to Louisville, Kentucky, where he married Caroline Neibauer on July 4, 1856, to whom six children were born.

After coming to Indiana, Mr. Benz became active in public affairs. He has served as county coroner, school trustee, and was appointed by Governor Gray to gather the vote in his district and carry it to Indianapolis. He served as a Representative from 1877 to 1879 and was in the State Senate from 1879 to 1885. He is a clothing and dry goods merchant in Leavenworth, and is a member of the Lutheran church.

ALEXANDER G. CAVINS.

His parents, Isaac and Josephine Snyder Moore, were among the sturdy pioneers who immigrated from Virginia to Ohio prior to the Civil War. Mr. Moore remained upon the farm until seventeen years old, when he became a teacher. After five years in this work he attended school at the Northern Indiana Normal School at Valparaiso, Indiana, and the National Normal University at Lebanon, Ohio, graduating in the teachers' course from the latter institution. He established the College Corner Chronicle at West College Corner, Indiana, in 1891, which he conducted with great success for eight years. In 1899 he, with B. F. Thiebaud, established the Connersville Courier, and managed this paper with signal ability until the paper changed ownership a year ago.

Beginning in 1900, Mr. Moore spent two years in Washington in the work of the twelfth census of the United States, attaining to the assistant chieftaincy over a section of proofreaders and statisticians. At the same time he attended a course of night lectures at the National University Law School, where he passed the examination and was admitted to the bar on his return to Connersville. Under the new apportionment act he will represent the counties of Fayette, Rush and Hancock in the Sixty-fifth General Assembly. His family consists of a wife and son, Harold.

Mr. Moore is the compiler of "Moore's Hoosier Cyclopedia," a valuable compilation of statistical, historical and general information pertaining principally to Indiana.

THOMAS T. MOORE.

Thomas T. Moore, the subject of this sketch, was born and reared on a farm in Putnam County, Indiana, near Greencastle, in which town he now resides. His father, Thomas A. Moore, was born December 16, 1798, in Henry County, Virginia, and was a farmer by occupation. His mother, Elizabeth Nugent, was born in Hawkins County, Tennessee, April 25, 1808. His parents came to Putnam County, Indiana, in 1834, and entered the land where Thomas T. Moore was born.

He had no advantages to gain an education except what could be acquired in the common schools, supplemented by one winter's work in the private school of Thomas Charles in Indianapolis, and less than one year in Asbury, now DePauw University. In 1873 he began the study of law and began to practice five years later, since which time he has devoted his entire time to his profession.

In 1889 Senator Moore was elected city attorney of Greencastle, and held that office until 1898. While city attorney he carried through the Supreme Court several cases which involved the right of the city to regulate the liquor traffic. In politics he is a Republican, and in 1894 was elected to the Legislature from Putnam, Montgomery and Clay counties, defeating ex-Attorney-General Delano E. Williamson in a district which was normally Democratic. While a member of the Legislature in 1895 he introduced and secured the passage of the Moore bill, which gave the cities of the State the right to restrict saloons to the business portions of the city.

He was elected to the Senate in 1904 from the counties of Putnam and Montgomery, also normally a Democratic district, and introduced and secured the passage of the Moore amendment to the Nicholson law.

He was married to Miss Laura Rosalie Allen in Lee County, Virginia, May 30, 1887. He has always given his adherence to the Methodist church.

RALPH W. MOSS.

Ralph W. Moss was born on the farm where he now lives, at Ashboro, Indiana, April 21, 1862. His father, James T. Moss, was born near the same place, and neither father nor son ever held their residence outside their native township.

His father was a farmer, and during the Civil War was a member of the Eighty-fifth Regiment, Indiana Volunteers. He was elected to the Fifty-seventh General Assembly, representing his native county of Clay. Senator Moss's mother's maiden name was Sarah E. McEppert, and she was born in Perry County, Ohio, but came to Indiana with her father's family in 1857.

Senator Moss received his early education in the common schools of his district, and in 1883 he entered Purdue University as a freshman. He was elected class president, but did not complete his college course. He is a successful farmer, and in politics is a Democrat. He received his education in the common schools of Henry County, and graduated from a medical college in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1862. Since then he has been actively engaged in his profession for a period of forty-one years, with the exception of two years which he spent as a private in the One Hundred and First Regiment, Indiana Volunteers.

During the last session of the General Assembly Dr. Murray represented the counties of Howard and Miami as Joint Senator. He has never held any other official position. In politics he is a Republican.

MARSHALL E. NEWHOUSE.

Marshall E. Newhouse, of Greensburg, is the descendant of two of the most noted pioneer families of Rush County. His father, Lewis J. Newhouse, was born near the farm he now occupies, in the year 1824. His mother, Mary Ann Hackleman, a cousin of Gen. P. A. Hackleman, came of a large and respected family, and she was also born in Rush County. They were united in marriage in the year 1849, lived happily together until death took away the wife and mother in the year 1861. Four children were born to this union, the second child being the subject of this sketch.

Marshall E. Newhouse was born on a farm near Rushville, Indiana, November 7, 1852. His early youth was spent upon the farm, where he worked during the summer and attended district school in the winter until he was eighteen years of age. The next four years were spent almost continuously in school. After graduating from the Rushville High School, he attended Hanover College for a year, returning at this time to take charge of a school to which he had been elected principal.

In the spring of 1878 he was united in marriage to Miss Ella Throp, of Decatur County, Indiana, and located on a farm a few miles from Greensburg.

Mr. Newhouse is a staunch Republican, and an untiring worker for party success. He was elected to the lower house of the State Legislature in 1892 and re-elected to the same position again in 1894. His record during each of these sessions was such as to win the admiration of all his constituency, regardless of party. He was elected to the State Senate in 1902, representing Decatur and Bartholomew counties in the sixty-third and sixty-fourth sessions.

WILLIAM H. O'BRIEN.

William H. O'Brien, a banker, of Lawrenceburg, represented Franklin, Dearborn and Ohio counties in the Senate of the Sixty-third and Sixty-fourth General Assemblies. He was born in Lawrenceburg, Indiana, August 22, 1855, the son of Cornelius O'Brien, a lawyer, and a native of Kilkenny County, Ireland, and Harriet Jane Hunter, born in Lawrenceburg.

Senator O'Brien was educated in the public schools of his native town and went through the sophomore year at DePauw University, and on May 9, 1882, was married to Harriet Hunter, a native of Mexico, Missouri. Prior to his present office in the Senate he was Mayor of Lawrenceburg 1885-1887, 1889-1891, 1891-1898, and was for some time trustee of Purdue University. In politics he is a Democrat.

JOHN W. PARKS.

John W. Parks is a native of Marshall County, Indiana, born May 25, 1852. His father, Hon. James O. Parks, was born in Bourbon County, Kentucky, and his mother, Susan Dinwiddie Parks, in Rush County, Indiana. James O. Parks, a lawyer, and father of Senator Parks, was a Representative in the General Assemblies of 1846 and 1859.

Senator Parks received his education from the common schools of Bourbon, Marshall County, and was graduated from the law department of the State University of Michigan in 1875, since which time he has been a resident of Plymouth, where he has been actively engaged in the practice of law. On October 12, 1876, he was married to Sallie H. Mozingo.

Mr. Parks is a Republican, is not an office seeker, and has never been a candidate nor held any political office except that of State Senator, the nomination for which was unanimously given him by his party. He represented Marshall and Kosciusko counties as Senator in the sixty-second, sixty-third and sixty-fourth sessions of the General Assembly.

CLAMOR PELZER.

Clamor Pelzer, of Boonville, who represented Vanderburgh, Warrick and Pike counties in the State Senate during the last session of the General Assembly, is a native of Germany. His father, Frederick Pelzer, a blacksmith, and his mother, Elizabeth Clausing Pelzer, were native Germans, also.

When quite a small lad, Senator Pelzer came with an elder brother to America, and received his education in the common schools. At an early age he apprenticed himself to a harnessmaker in Evansville, but began business for himself when nineteen years old. Mr. Pelzer never engaged in any business venture which did not prove successful. While a young man he conducted a grocery, and then entered the agricultural implement business, which he made one of the largest concerns of its kind in the county. About this time he established the plant of the Southern Indiana Fertilizing Company at Boonville, which is one of the large enterprises at that place, and helped organize the Home Produce Company.

Senator Pelzer has been active in the affairs of his town and county for many years, and it was during his term as treasurer of the board of education that the fine high school building was erected in Boonville. He was also a member of the committee appointed to assist the county council and county commissioners in selecting plans and specifications for the new Warrick County Court House.

For ten years he served as a member of the town council, and for nine years as a member of the board of education. He has been elected chief doorkeeper of the State Senate four different times. In addition to his other interests, he owns a number of large farms in Warrick County, and is a successful raiser of fine cattle and hogs.

JOSIAH G. POWELL.

Josiah G. Powell, a salesman of Logansport, Cass County, was born February 16, 1856, on a farm in that county. His father, Jephthia Powell, a farmer, was born in Steubenville, Ohio, in 1818, and emigrated to Cass County in 1836; two years later he drove a team with the Government troops in the removal of the Pottawattamie Indians to the territory of Kansas. His mother's name was Ruhamah Freen, who was born in Ohio and came to Cass County in the thirties.

Ele Stansbury was born February 8, 1861, at Saybrook, McLean County, Illinois; son of John M. and Margaret Stansbury. He was educated in the common schools of Saybrook, Illinois, and removed to Williamsport, Warren County, Indiana, in 1883. He commenced the practice of law in 1888, and is now a successful lawyer. He was elected prosecuting attorney for Fountain and Warren counties in 1892 and re-elected in 1894, and was a very successful prosecutor. In 1900 he was presidential elector for the Tenth District of Indiana and voted in the electoral college for William McKinley for President. In 1903 he was a member of the lower house of the Sixty-third General Assembly of Indiana; was chairman of the Committee on Fees and Salaries, a member of the Ways and Means Committee and three other committees. In 1905 he was a member of the Sixty-fourth General Assembly of Indiana in the lower house, and was chairman of the Judiciary Committee, and a member of four other committees; also chairman of the Employment Committee. He has served several years as town and county attorney, and is now the senior member of the law firm of Stansbury & Billings, at Williamsport, Indiana.

MARION B. STULTS.

Marion B. Stults, of Huntington, Indiana, who represented Huntington County in the House in the Sixty-third and Sixty-fourth General Assemblies, is one of the leading business men of his city, having one of the largest furniture establishments in northern Indiana. He was born in Clear Creek Township, Huntington County, May 13, 1855, where he spent his boyhood days on the farm. Jacob Stults, his father, was a native of Starke County, Ohio, and his mother was Margaret E. Best, of Kentucky, both of whom were pioneer settlers in the county.

Mr. Stults secured a fairly good education in the public schools, which was supplemented by eighteen months' attendance in the Normal School at Valparaiso, Indiana. On December 25, 1878, he was married to Miss Lydia O. Mishler, and has one daughter, Miss Mae F. Stults. Mr. Stults was county superintendent of schools from 1879 to 1881; was a member of the city school board from 1895 to 1898, and was elected Representative in November, 1902, and re-elected in 1904.

JOHN SWEENEY.

John Sweeney, Representative for Perry and Crawford counties in the Sixty-fourth General Assembly, was born in Ireland, May 6, 1849. His father was Timothy Sweeney, a dairyman, and his mother Mary Sweeney, nee Welsh, both of whom were natives of County Cork.

Mr. Sweeney was educated at St. Meinrad, Indiana, and is a practicing lawyer in Tell City. He is a Democrat in politics, and has served as county sheriff, three terms as State Senator, county Representative, and is an ex-member of the United States secret service. He is a member of the Roman Catholic church.

LEVI ULRICH.

Levi Ulrich was born in Wayne County, Indiana, near Hagerstown, March 31, 1849. His parents, Daniel T. Ulrich and Margaret Ulrich, nee Hoover, were born in Bedford County, Pennsylvania, being of the Pennsylvania Dutch stock. The subject of this sketch was one of a family of twelve children. The educational privileges were such as usually befell large families of the pioneers—a few months of district school during the winter—but by his own means he attended the high school at Hagerstown and qualified himself to teach. Using his earnings, he became a student in the National Normal School of Lebanon, Ohio, in 1872, and graduated from that institution in 1875, and afterwards taught for about twenty years.

At present Mr. Ulrich is a merchant and flour mill owner in Greensboro, Henry County, Indiana. Being born of an abolition ancestry, he has been a life-long Republican, and as such he was elected to the Sixty-fourth General Assembly as a Representative of Henry County. He is a member of the Friends church.

JOHN WELLINGTON VIZARD.

John Wellington Vizard, of Pleasant Mills, was born November 10, 1869, on a farm near Monroeville, Allen County, Indiana. His father, who was a farmer, was born in County Mayo, Ireland. His mother's maiden name was Rutledge, and she was born in Harrison County, Ohio. Mr. Vizard worked on the farm, and during the winters attended country school until eighteen years of age, when he entered Middlepoint (Ohio) Normal School. Later he attended the Lebanon (Ohio) National Normal University and the Lebanon (Ohio) Medical College, where he graduated with the degree of Doctor of Medicine. He moved from Allen County, Indiana, to Pleasant Mills, Adams County, Indiana, in 1892 and commenced the practice of medicine, which profession he is still following. He was married in 1896 to Myrtle M. Acker. Mr. Vizard is a Democrat and has always been interested in campaigns. He never held office until elected from Adams County in 1904 for Representative.

FRANK NELSON WADE.

Frank Nelson Wade, Democratic Representative from Posey County, was born October 16, 1871, of Scotch-Irish extraction, on a farm near Wadesville. He is the son of J. Doss and Augusta (Hunter) Wade, both of whom were born in this county and are now living.

Mr. Wade spent his early life on the farm, attending school during the winter; later attending school at Princeton and the State Normal at Terre Haute, Indiana. He taught school for ten years in his county, and is now engaged in a general merchandise business in Wadesville. He was united in marriage September 1, 1897, to Miss Ida M., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cross. To this union three children were born—Anna Cross, James Cross and Doss Cross. He has always been an active worker in Democratic circles, was unanimously nominated to represent his county in the Sixty-fourth General Assembly. He never aspired to office before.

NEWTON F. WATSON.

Newton F. Watson was born October 26, 1859, in Whitley County, Indiana, on the farm he now owns. His father, Eli W. Watson, was born in Fairfield County, Ohio, January 14, 1826, and was a farmer. His mother, Amanda M. Hare, was born June 25, 1831, in Ross County, Ohio. They came to Whitley County, Indiana, in 1855.

Mr. Watson attended the common schools, the Methodist Episcopal College of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and the Valparaiso Normal. He taught school in Indiana and Kansas, and in 1884 he married Charlotte Kiser, went west to Kansas in 1885, took up a homestead, and lived on it the required time. He participated in the organization of Gray County, Kansas, and was elected county clerk of Gray County, Kansas. He returned to Indiana in 1891, and settled on his father's farm. He is a Republican, and represented Kosciusko and Whitley counties in the Sixty-fourth General Assembly. He is a successful farmer.

ISAAH P. WATTS.

Isaiah P. Watts, Representative from Randolph County, was born in Richland County, Ohio, June 15, 1840. His father, Samuel Watts, and his mother, Martha Paxson Watts, were both natives of Pennsylvania, his mother having been born in Chester County, that State. Mr. Watts attended the common schools and Liber College in Jay County, Indiana, and has engaged in teaching, law and the ministry. He has served as clerk of the courts. In politics he is a Republican, and is a member of the Christian church.

GEORGE I. WHITE.

George I. White, of Franklin, Indiana, was born October 14, 1870, on a farm in Johnson County, Indiana. His father was George B. White, a native of Kentucky, and his mother, Rachel I. (Lane) White, was born in Southern Indiana. They spent the entire time of their married life in Johnson County, Indiana. His education consisted of a common school education, two years in high school and two in Franklin College. He taught school one year, served as deputy clerk of the Johnson Circuit Court for one year; he then took up the study of law and was admitted to the Johnson County bar in November, 1894. He was married to Leila L. Lagrange in November, 1895, and to this marriage has been born one daughter, Pauline. Politically, he has always been a Democrat. He is now in the practice of law with Fred R. Owens, under the firm name of White & Owens, who are enjoying a large practice. He united with the Christian church in 1888, was a teacher in the Sunday-school for two years, and is now serving as Sunday-school superintendent and church deacon, having been serving for two and eight years, respectively. He represented Johnson County in the Sixty-fourth General Assembly as a member of the House.

JESSE E. WILSON.

Jesse E. Wilson is an attorney-at-law in the city of Rensselaer. He was born in Owen County, Indiana, October 4, 1867, and is a son of John W. and P. J. (Maners) Wilson. His father was a native of North Carolina, but moved to Owen County, Indiana, in 1833, when about eight years old. He married P. J. Maners, whose father was a native of Tennessee, who came to Indiana in the early days. The mother is still living.

Jesse E. Wilson was the sixth child in a family of eleven children. His childhood and early youth was spent on the farm in Owen County, where he attended the common schools; later he entered the high school at Spencer, and after that engaged in teaching school for a period of four years. He then became a clerk in a dry goods store, remaining until he had secured sufficient means to defray his expenses through the State University at Bloomington, Indiana, from which he graduated in June, 1895. He came to Rensselaer on the 7th day of July, 1895, and formed his present partnership with Mr. Ferguson. There he is engaged in the general practice of law. He is a member of the following orders: Free and Accepted Masons, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Knights of Pythias, Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias, and of the Greek fraternity Phi Gamma Delta. His people were members of the Methodist Episcopal church, with which he affiliates.

Mr. Wilson represented Lake and Jasper counties in the sixty-third and sixty-fourth sessions of the General Assembly. He has taken an active part in every political campaign since he became of age, advocating the principles of the Republican party. He is unmarried.
